

Many CUPE members don't make a living wage

Many of our CUPE members earn below the provincial living wage of $24.62. In some cases, that amount is as low as $19.44. This is not a living wage, and it is not enough to afford a two-bedroom rental in markets like Dieppe and Fredericton, let alone a one-bedroom in Moncton and Riverview. Because of this, obtaining the $70,000 needed for the dream of homeownership is just not in the cards for a number of our members.

The cost of rent and other necessities like food and gas increases are the same for everyone. Shouldn't CUPE workers be given a fair chance at a living wage and a better future?
